or Loss to the City of Philadelp From the Philadelphia Bulletin, April 20. U. S. CIECUIT COURT.

Jenos Gamm.—Thatefollwing very important opinion in the case recently tried in the Circuit Court, in which the heirs of this tas Stephen Gired were plaintife, and the city of Philadelphia defendants, was delivered by Judge Grier this mersing. The verdict went against the city, and the latter made an application for a new tried. The reasons for refusing the new trial are given at length.

John T. Citarie's Lease us. The City of Philadelphia—Argued April 5, 1834. Measure. Citariated and Cadwalacte for motion. Measure. Guyler and J. M. Reed contra. The Curisan.—We have carefully reconsidered the intractions given by the Court on the trial of this case, to be contracted by great ingenuity and research; and are now mere thoroughly convinced of the course in a set on meses thoroughly convinced of the course in the court of the trial of the case, to the court of the cour that he claims by the preemded and worthless title; that this estopped decends to his heir, and that the good title becomes merged in the bad one, and in order to assist the devises as against the heir at law, equity will construct the good conveyance by which alone the grantee has any season, estate, or title, to be a mere extinguishment of an outstanding claim or cloud on the title. This doctrine cannot be supported by an analogy or authority in ancient or modern law.

The cases cited from Brooke's abr. tit, mortmain and the year book II., Henry IV., '78, give no countenance to gueb doctrine. For, where an abator or disseisor aliens in mortmain by license of the King and lord paramount, and the disseisee releases the right to the abbot, it must be observed that the abbot being allense by livery of seisin of the disseisor, is in possession of the freehold by title. And the entry and feoffment being by license are sufficient to pass the freehold to the abbot as against the King and lord paramount and all the world except him who hath the right. But his right of entry being tolled, his release, which is of the bare right, will be construed to operate only as extinguishment of his right, and not to the destruction of the estate, so as to countervall entry and feoffment by license. Hence the distinction taken "where the abbot himself is disseisor and the King or lord releases, and confirms to him, and then the disseise releases the abbot. In such case, it seems that the King or lord can cater, for this countervalls entry and feoffment, and then there is a new mortmain."

In this case, the abbot being himself disseisor, is not in by title or livery of seisin, the entry of the disseisee is not tolled; his release operates as a feoffment with livery of seisin, and confers a new freehold or estate on the disseisee, which, being without license, is forfeited as mortmain.

It needs no argument to show that these cases, sought of seisin, and confers a new freehold or estate on the dissessee, which, being without license, is forfeited as mortmain.

It needs no argument to show that these cases, sought out from the lumber-garrets of obsolete feudal laws, will safford so analogy or authority for the proposition which defendant's counsel are compelled to establish in order to success in the present case. The principles laid down by the Eupreme Ceurt of Pennsylvania in their construction of this devise, (4 Rawle, 335, 336), conclusively overrule the positions advanced by defendants, and leave their case without a foundation on which to rest.

It is there decided that "the question whether after purchased lands pass by a previous devise, does not depend on the intention of the testator. That a will is a species of conveyance, and operates only as regards the disposing power and capacity of the testator at the time of its execution, insomuch as to require his power over the estate to be perfect at the time. That the act of disposition must be complete in every respect at the performance of it: That a testator, like any other grantor, cannot give what he has not: and, finally, that a subsequent purchase giving the land to the testator is a subsequent purchase giving the land to the testator had no ittle whatever, and no estate by seisin or disseisin, but also as regards the nine tracts to which the testator had no rittle whatever, and no estate by seisin or disseisin, but also as regards the either two, which though then sold under the Nicholson lien, were not conveyed till after the codicil. As to the latter, the testator had, at the time of making his will, the bare possession, as tenant at will or sufferance, not in hostility to the purchase at the sale. This estate was liable to be defeated at any moment, but the purchase and completion of this title, defeated and put an end to the uncertain possessor's estate, or right held by him at the time of his devise. No case can be found where the purchase of a fee simple estate, after a deviae h

The motion was opened by Mr. John Jay, on behalf of Barnett, and opposed by Mr. John Jay, on behalf of Barnett, and opposed by Mr. John Jay, on behalf of Barnett, and opposed by Mr. John Jay, on behalf of Barnett, in the Kinyard Sanford of the State of Now York, and entitled to the rights and privilages of citisenship, and laboring under no disqualification, but is a holder in fee of real estate. The plaintiff obtained an academical education, and in 1844 was entered as a study a since through the different courses of study, and was admitted as a member of one of the literary societies of the University, and gained various prizes in different branches. In 1845 he received from the faculty the degree of Bachelor of Arts. He subsequently a strade the office of Bachelor of Arts. He subsequently a strade the office of an eminent practising physicians and was duly matriculated and admitted to the surgical and medical cliniques of the college. In November of that year he obtained from the several processors the the academical cliniques of the college, and waiting to attend medical cliniques, he was diafranchised and expelled. The plaintiff, therefore, moves for a peremptory mandamus for his restoration. The trustees of the college contend that by the course and usage of that institution, persons of color are not candidates for the defendance on the lectures of the professors, ever been of right granted to any person of color; that at the time of the matriculations of plaintiff, the faculty were not aware or informed that James P. cognizance, CHARGE OF RAPE ON A CHILD OF TENDER YEARS. CHARGE OF RAPE ON A CHILD OF TENDER YEARS.

Adam Plum, a German, 24 years of age, was indicted for an assault with intent to commit a rape on the person of Caroline Miller, a pretty little girl aged six years.

The case, as opened and the evidence of the child herself, Johanna Miller, her mother, and Dr. Vonelke, was of the most revolting and disgusting nature, totally unditfor publication. The prisoner, a tin worker, ind boarded with Mrs. Miller in Cedar street, where the offence was alleged to have been committed.

The case for the prosecution closed and the defence accommenced, when it appeared that the testimony of a medical man not present might be very material, and the further hearing was postponed till this morning, the jury separating by consent.

Mary Ann Sice was charged with robbing her mistress, Mrs Shaw, of 461 Broome street, of about $70 worth of property, but being taken at various times, it was laid as petit larceny, but a second offence. It seemed that this prisoner in IS48 had plundered Mrs Shaw and was then sent to the State prison. On her release the prosecutrix took her again in her service; but this unusual extension of pardon gave rise, to no gratitude, and she recommenced her former practices, hencefthe present charge, of which the jury convicted her. She was remanded for sentence.

ACOUTTED.

the jury convicted her. She was remanded for sentence.

ACQITTED.

John Wilson, who stood indicted for larceny in stealing a quantity of carget bags some months since from a store in Cortlandt street, was placed on trial. The evidence was very insufficient, and with some difficulty the District Attorney and the Court persuaded the jury it was a case for acquittal.

The Court adjourned till this (Thursday) morning.

The State Canala.

[From the Albany Argus, April 20.]

The State canals, under the direction of the Canal Commissioners, are to be opened for navigation to day. So far as we are able to learn, they are in complete order throughout the entire line.

On the eastern division, the water was in part let in yesterday, and is no doubt in complete order to day. The drain at Utica, we learn, is completed. Sections thirty-nine and forty-eight, the former near Hoffman's Ferry, and the latter near Fultonville, are also completed on the enlarged plan, and the work closed up.

At Cohoes, where the towing path bridge formerly stood, but which was burned down a few weeks since, a rope ferry has been constructed across the Mohawk. The river at this point is about a quarter of a mile wide, and boats entering into, or emerging from the Champiain canal, will be propelled with the horses on board, after the fashion of the numerous ferries along the Mohawk.

The Rochester American states that there is a break in the bank of the Eric canal near Albion. This, we are informed, is the break which occurred late last fall. It has been repaired and there will, prebably, be no detention of boats at that point.

The Rochester Union learns from the division engineer, that there is a heavy leak in the canal at or near Albion, and the further filling of this level will be suspended until it shall have been stopped.

At Rochester, boats have been moving a day or two, preparatory to receiving cargoes.

At this end of the line there are about one hundred boats, already freighted with merchandise—averaging some sixty tone cach—ready to depart, and which leave in rapid succession to day. Everything in this quarter indicates an active business season.

ONLY A FAMILY QUARREL.

APRIL 19.—John Gaghan, and Mary, his wife, had, it appeared by the resords of the court, made a charge against Daniel Donoghue, for an assault and battery, the defendant having, on Friday last, at the corner of Ninth street and avenue B, met the male complainant, and, taking a stone from his pocket, knocked him dewn, so that he lay senseless for about five minutes, and on the wife coming to the assistance of her liege lord, she was treated with nearly similar courtesy; all which was corroborated by an affidavit of a witness. On the prisoner being placed at the bar, a man, who proved to be the complainant, appeared before the Court in a very supplicating manner, and exclaimed, "Oh, thin, my lord! sure it was only a family quarrel."

Judge—Are you the complainant—your name Gaghan? Applicant—Yes, your Honor.

Judge—Are you don't want to press the charge, then? Are you willing he should go?

A.—Oh! yes, if your Honor's satisfied.

Judge—Oh! I am very well satisfied. Has your wife no charge? There is a complaint by her, too.

A.—Oh! no, to be sure; sure she's his own cousin, and it was all a family quarrel.

The Ceurt thereupon allowed the happy family to depart altogether.

DISCHARGED.

Patrick O'Connor, charged with an assault on Mesars. Willmer and Rogers, was discharged from custody, on his entering into recognizances, and finding sureties that he should keep the peace towards the complainants, with whom, it was understood, he had had some private quarrel. The idea of his being insane proved, upon inquiry and examination, to be quite unfounded.

AMALGAMATION.—Married, in New York city, March 30, by Rev. Thomas Henson, Prof. W. G. Allen, of McGrawville, N. Y., to Miss Mary E. King, of Fulton, N. Y., daughter of Rev. Lyndon King, of Fulton.

A case of amalgamation? The parties are the same who were concerned in the attempt at the feat they have finally accomplished, some time ago at Fulton. It created great excitement there at the time. Allen, the colored gentleman, denied that there was any ground for the report that they wished to be married, and she went off into Pennsylvanis to teach school. Allen is said to be unworthy of and ashamed of his color, and has always said that when he married he would have a white girl. He was at one time at the Institute at Whitestown, and afterwards studied law in New York. His airs made him unpopular with his own people and with abolitionists, who noticed his conduct at McGrawville. His marriage, it seems, is now a fixed fact, in black and white.—Utica Gazette.
